Ways Criminals Get Debit Card Data...PROTECT YOUR CARD!!

1. Steal cards

Sophistication: Low/ Scales of Attack: Small

The simplest way for a criminal to get card data is to steal someone's card. To get the PIN, the thief might shoulder surf or guess a weak password, such as a birthdate.

2. Steal machines

Sophistication: Low/Scales of attack: Moderate

A criminal might decide to steal either an ATM or POS terminal. Cash can be pulled from the ATM's, but both types of machines could store card numbers if misconfigured. A stolen machine is also valuable in order to learn about weaknesses or ways to physically attack it.

3. Offline account takeover

Sophistication: Moderate/ Scale of attack: Small

Breaking into mailboxes and stealing account statements or other personal information can get a criminal conduct identity theft. Often they'll try to change the victim's mailing address with the credit union, order a new card, and activate it. If the CU has good processes in place that are adhered to, then this type of attack can be stopped.

4. Separate skimming device

Sophistication: Low/Scale of attack: Moderate

If a skillful criminal can get a hold of a card for a few seconds, then they can swipe it through a reader and get its data.

5. Overlaid skimming devices

Sophistication: Low/Scale of Attack: Moderate

In this case, the criminal places a card reader over the machine's intrinsic reader. They might also attach a video camera or a pin-pad overlay to capture the PIN.
